Relay assembly testroom participants remember: Hawthorne a half century later by Alfred A. Bolton; Affiliation: Averett College, Danville, Virginia

Abstract

The Hawthorne Experiments are among the most well-known experiments ever conducted in the field of management and social research. The data from the experiments have been reinterpreted and misinterpreted and the conclusions have been both praised and criticized. In this study five of the original participants in the experiments were interviewed in order to clarify some of the events and to answer many of the questions researchers have expressed concerning the methodology and conclusions of the experiments. Although half a century has passed since the research was performed, Theresa Layman, Wanda Blazejak, Geraldine Sirchio, Mary Volango, and Don Chipman had vivid memories and provided the author with valuable insights about the Hawthorne Experiments.

Placing friendship in context By Rebecca G. Adams, Graham A. Allan

Book overview

Personal relationships have long been of central interest to social scientists, but the subject of friendship has been relatively neglected. Moreover, most studies of friendship have been social psychological. Placing Friendship in Context is a unique collection bridging social psychological and social structural research to advance understanding of this important subject. In it, some of the world's leading researchers explore the social and historical contexts in which friendships and other similar informal ties develop and how it is that these contexts shape the form and substance the relationships assume.

These notes have been gathered from the Grippo's website and other sources on the web. See www.grippos.com

Angelo Grippo started manufacturing rolled sugar cones in 1919 and later added pretzels to his product line. His wife Emma, who took over the business when he died in 1956, added potato chips. The Hot Dill Pickle chips have a nose-tingling scent, heat that lingers in the mouth, and pair up perfectly with a burger or a hot dog. The big taste of the Cheddar and Jalapeno chips raises the question: How can something this small pack so much punch? (www.grippopotatochips.com)

Grippo's was founded by Angelo Grippo in 1919. Known as the Grippo's Cone Company, it manufactured rolled sugar cones in a one-room office on Court Street in Cincinnati, Ohio. Grippo's added pretzels to their business and in 1923 began hand twisting and baking the traditional twist pretzel. The standard sized pretzel sold for a penny each at retail

In 1930, Angelo Grippo invented the loop pretzel. Mr. Grippo wanted a simple pretzel that could be made easily and would resist breakage. The loop pretzel looks like a tear drop. Mr Grippo not only invented but also constructed and put into operation the pretzel looping machines.

Educator Joseph J. Sirchio, 86
Was Principal Of Steinmetz High
February 19, 2001|By Diana Strzalka, Tribune Staff Writer.

Joseph J. Sirchio, 86, of Chicago, a former principal of Steinmetz High School and president of the Illinois High School Athletic Association, died of heart failure Saturday, Feb. 17, in Weiss Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

Mr. Sirchio began his 40-year career with the Chicago Public Schools as a physical education teacher at Stowe Elementary School. He later served as principal at Irving Park School, Prosser Vocational High School, Chicago Vocational High School and the last 13 years at Steinmetz High School. He was an early proponent of computer education in public schools, using technology to cut truancy by having the school office telephones automatically dial the homes of absent students, his son, Bruce, said.

He was president of the athletic association from 1976 to 1983 and was often seen on television awarding ribbons to the winners of state tournaments.

He was a founder of the Gregorians, an Italian teachers organization, and served on the boards of many community and educational organizations, including the Illinois Principals Association and the Illinois Industrial Education Association.

The youngest of seven children of Italian immigrants, Mr. Sirchio grew up in the Taylor Street area of Chicago and attended McKinley High School, where he met his high school sweetheart, Nancy, whom he married in 1936. He became the first member of his family to attend college by working two or three odd jobs at a time to pay for tuition, his son said.

Mr. Sirchio received a bachelor's degree from Chicago Teachers College, a master's degree from DePaul University and a doctorate from Loyola University Chicago. His educational pursuits continued past his 1984 retirement, as he attended classes on literature, music and theater at Northwestern University.

His community involvement went beyond the classroom, his son said. He was a Big Brother to wayward youths through the Archdiocese of Chicago and the Chicago Patrolmen's Association. He also helped immigrants prepare for their citizenship exams through a program offered at local high schools.

In addition to his son, survivors include two daughters, Lucille Akers and Judith Connolly; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Visitation will be held from 3 to 9 p.m. Monday in Cumberland Funeral Home, 8300 W. Lawrence Ave., Norridge. Mass will be said at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Queen of All Saints Basilica, 6280 N. Sauganash Ave., Chicago.

Mercede - Montana connection: there were three brothers, Michael Angelo Mercede (1881) known as "Mike" Pasquale Mercede (1884/1886) alias Patsy Montana and Christ Mercede (Montana) (1889) from Accera, Napoli, Italy. My aunt Josephine who is the daughter of Christ told me that her father took the Montana name once he came to Chicago because he was living with his cousins who's last name was Montana, I think there was more to it but ? My grandfather (Pasquale) died when he was shot by another man, I was once told by an irate husband who caught him with his wife but the database doesn't really say that. I know that he left his family when my father was young. The early 1920's in Chicago were violent and lots of gangs. He was someone that the family did not want to talk about.

Chicago Sun-Times (IL) - June 4, 2003

Deceased Name: Letizia Marzullo, 103; drove husband's political success

At election time for more than six decades, Letizia Marzullo could forget about using her dining room table to feed her family--it was too full of election documents needed by her political powerhouse husband, the late Ald. Vito Marzullo.

The man who became dean of the City Council and a major power broker in Chicago's Machine politics wasn't the one organizing all that paper. She was.

"She used to say she did the dirty work. She'd get the sample ballots ready, put out cards where the polling place was. I remember our dining room table was always full just before the election," said her daughter Ann DeMaria.

The electioneering went on from shortly after their marriage in 1922 until her husband retired in 1986. He died four years later at age 92.

Mrs. Marzullo died Sunday at the Arlington Heights home of a daughter with whom she had lived the last few years. She was 103.

She was born Letizia Cozzi in Dover, England, the fifth of 14 children of parents who had emigrated there from Italy. An older brother moved to Chicago and became friends with the young Vito Marzullo.

"They corresponded while she was in England. She came over to see if she liked him," decided she did, and they were married June 11, 1922, her daughter said.

Vito Marzullo already was involved in Chicago politics. He was working as a clerk in the county treasurer's office. He went on to be a section foreman in the city street department, a Municipal Court deputy bailiff and a precinct captain. In 1940, he was elected state representative, a post he kept until he was elected alderman and Democratic ward committeeman in 1953. Whatever his job, Mrs.

Descendants of Nicola MAZZONE and Grazia TRIMARCO

Marzullo coped with the sample ballots and brochures, and regularly got dressed up to appear on his arm at innumerable banquets.

"She was the dutiful housewife doing what she was supposed to do. That's what she always told us--make sure your husband is comfortable and support him in whatever he does," DeMaria said. Until her move to Arlington Heights, Mrs. Marzullo always lived in the 25th Ward, first just west of the old Cook County Hospital, then on South Oakley. It was her husband who got a bill through the Illinois Legislature creating the Hospital District that grew up around Cook County (now Stroger) Hospital.

She had no time for anything but her husband, his interests and her family.

A petite, dark-haired, gracious woman, although she lived in an Italian-American neighborhood, "she was very English, really," DeMaria said.

Other survivors are daughters Helen Dimperio, Lee Maiorano and Eleanor Masciola; a son, Robert, 19 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Services will be today at 10:30 a.m. at St. Celestine Church, 3005 N. 76th Ct., Elmwood Park, with burial in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Hillside.

Chicago Tribune (IL) - March 6, 1990

Deceased Name: EX-ALD. VITO MARZULLO, CHICAGO POLITICAL LEGEND

Vito Marzullo, 92, a Chicago political legend who outlived most of his colleagues and even the once-powerful Democratic machine he had come to symbolize, died Monday after a lengthy illness.

Frail and in ill health for the last several years, Mr. Marzullo had entered Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital on Feb. 2, suffering from pneumonia and the vicissitudes of old age. He died there Monday.

Born in the village of Senerchia, Italy, on Sept. 10, 1897, Mr. Marzullo and his family moved to the United States in May 1910 and settled in the West Side Chicago neighborhood that would be his home and power base until he died.

In recent years, the former alderman had been in failing health. Mr. Marzullo's death was prematurely reported in the Chicago Tribune last April when, in a journalistic gaffe prompted by late-night deadline pressures, the newspaper published an erroneous report that he had been fatally stricken in his home.

Mr. Marzullo is survived by his wife, Letizia; two sons, William V. and Robert; four daughters, Helen Dimperio, Adeline Maiorano, Ann DeMaria and Eleanore Masciola; 19 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.

Visitation will be from 4 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in Salerno's Galewood Chapel, 1857 N. Harlem Ave. Mass will be said at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Callistus Catholic Church, 2167 W. Bowler St

Notes from Benjamin M:

Their son Robert Mazzone started MAZZONE'S ITALIAN ICE, which he ran until his death. His son, Mitch, took over the company but sold it.

From Lollapalooza.com:

Mazzone's Italian Ice was created in 1959 by Robert Mazzone. It began as a small shop in Cicero, IL with 3 small batch freezers that could produce a total of 9 gallons of product per hour. The beginning was a struggle, especially since Robert quit his steady paying union electrician job to start a business producing a product few in the Chicago area were familiar with. However, the risk paid off! Over the years and many small expansions Mazzones became a major player in the national school feeding business and manufactured products for Jenny Craig, American and United airlines, Olive Garden, and grocery chains to name a few. The company grew with many small expansions and at the peak of production could produce 9 gallons of product per MINUTE. We hope you enjoy our menu selection for Lollapalooza this year, especially the newest addition Frozen Hot Chocolate Sorbet.

While living in Italy, he served in the Italian army. A parishioner of Holy Rosary R.C. Church, South Beach, he was a member of the church's senior center. General Notes for Eugenia:

Staten Island Advance (NY) - October 18, 2006

Deceased Name: EUGENIA MAZZONE, 74

Date of Death:

10/16/2006

Would cook 7 dinners for 7 granddaughters Eugenia Mazzone spent much of her time doting on her seven granddaughters, some days cooking seven separate meals so each could have her favorite. The South Beach grandmother died Monday in Staten Island University Hospital, Ocean Breeze. She was 74 years old. Born Eugenia Delgiudice in a village outside Naples, Italy, she immigrated to Manhattan 52 years ago. In the 1960s, she moved to South Beach, where she worked as a seamstress and lived the rest of her years.

Mrs. Mazzone retired about 10 years ago. She enjoyed simple pleasures - spending time with her family, cooking, growing tomatoes for her own sauce and taking daily walks and occasional trips to Atlantic City, where she indulged her penchant for slot machines, her daughter-in-law, Theresa Mazzone, said. "She loved cooking for her grandchildren. Whatever they wanted, they got to eat," she continued. "Her grandchildren were her life, I have to say." Mrs. Mazzone was a parishioner of Holy Rosary R.C. Church, South Beach, where she was a Eucharistic minister. The proverbial glue of her tight-knit family, she treated her daughters-in-law, Theresa and Toni Mazzone, "like we were her daughters," Theresa said. "She was just a special woman, not only to her family but to everyone around her. It's like losing my own mother."

Mrs. Mazzone's husband of 54 years, Angelomario, died last year.

Surviving are her sons, Anthony, Jerry and Peter; two sisters, Maria Mazzone and Angela Esposito, and seven granddaughters. The funeral will be Friday from the A. Azzara Funeral Home, South Beach, with a mass at 9:30 a.m. in Holy Rosary Church. Entombment will follow in Moravian Cemetery, New Dorp.
